

LEGEND 3D SET TO HANDLE STEREO CONVERSION FOR STUDIO 8'S THEATRICAL FILM THE SOLUTREAN

LOS ANGELES, CA (May 2, 2017) – Legend 3D/VFX/VR announced today that it has been awarded the 2D to 3D stereo conversion work for THE SOLUTREAN, by Jeff Robinov's Studio 8.

An epic adventure set in the last Ice Age, THE SOLUTREAN is directed by Albert Hughes (The Book of Eli), and is the first project launched by the Sony-based company as a solo production. Jóhannes Haukur Jóhannesson (Black's Game, A.D. The Bible Continues) and Kodi Smit-McPhee (X-Men: Apocalypse) star in the story of a young man who is injured and left for dead while on a hunt with his tribe's elite group. Awakened to find himself broken and alone, miles from his village, he must learn to survive the harsh and unforgiving wilderness. He reluctantly tames a lone wolf abandoned by its pack. The pair learn to rely on each other to hunt and become unlikely allies enduring countless dangers and overwhelming odds to find their way home before the deadly winter.

Post Production is now underway in Los Angeles.

THE SOLUTREAN will be released by Studio 8 in 3D in September 2017. Members of the Legend teams in Los Angeles and Toronto will be working on the project.
